Pumped Terrazzo Floor Cuts Time And Cost for New Supermarket

A 2000m<sup>2</sup> pump-applied terrazzo floor has been completed by CG Flooring Systems in ten working days at a new Supavalue supermarket, halving the contract time and cost of traditional terrazzo tiles.

The Fastraz® flooring system chosen by Supavalue for its new supermarket at Clonakilty in the Irish Republic is a polymer-modified cementitious self-smoothing material that is pumped in a continuous operation, with different coloured aggregates added to create the required finish. The screed is 8mm thick.

At Clonakilty a cream screed was used for the main sales area and a charcoal screed for the greengrocery and off-licence areas, with brown and grey aggregates added for both areas. The charcoal screed was laid to form a curved shape.

The contract involved shot-blasting and priming the concrete base, laying the Fastraz®, forming expansion joints to coincide with the joints in the concrete base, and then grinding, polishing and sealing the surface. The whole project was completed in ten working days – less than half the time to lay a conventional terrazzo floor.
